

KLOVE is a great service to the communities that it reaches. In these times, true Christian values can only add to society, and not take anything away. KLOVE demonstrates this by the quality of what it plays for music, which is uplifting, and inspirational. I salute it's committment to the family, and high moral standards.